CHICAGO, April 11, 1904.

To the Members of the Society:

That the work of the year which has just closed compares favorably with that of the past, is evidenced by the way in which the Hospital has met the ever-increasing demands made upon it.

Among the causes to which this is due we should like to call your attention to the able and unremitting services of the members of the Medical Board. Dr. Nesmith, Superintendent for two years, tendered his resignation in May, 1903. It was accepted, and the good wishes of the Board of Managers follow him in his new field of labor. Since May the institution has been under the temporary supervision of our Cashier, Mr. Asa Bacon, to whose efficient assistance we are indebted. The cares of the Matron, Miss Riedle, have been necessarily increased, and her judicious work, with Mr. Bacon's, has kept the general machinery of the Hospital running satisfactorily in an overcrowded time when ingenuity, economy and forethought had to be especially exercised.

The last contract for nurses existing between the Hospital and the Illinois Training School for Nurses terminated December 31, 1903, and in separating the work we desire to thank the organization and nurses for the efficient services rendered during the past years.

Commencing January 1, 1904, we have been depending upon our own School for Nurses, with such temporary outside assistance as seemed necessary. It is a pleasure to note that our School is steadily maintaining its high standards, and will in a short time supply the full demands of the Hospital. Miss McMillan, Principal of the School, has carried the work forward with admirable patience and ability. Through the generosity of friends the School has received many donations, which have given many comforts and conveniences to the rooms.

During the spring of 1903 it became evident that an addition for new dormitory space was imperative, and a three story and basement brick addition was built in the rear of 275 Ashland avenue, giving accommodation for thirty-three nurses. The cost of these improvements amounted to $21,231.24.

This new building was designed by Messrs. Frost & Granger, who very generously gave their services to the Hospital without compensation. We take pleasure in availing ourselves of this opportunity to thank them for their liberality.

As was expected, the operating expenses of the School for Nurses for the first year, which has just closed, largely exceeded its income. The pupils are advancing in their work, and after the coming year, which should show much better financial results, it is hoped the School will be self-supporting.

The hospital concert given by the Ladies' Aid Society was a pronounced success, and from it the Hospital was a gainer by $8,000. With a portion of this amount the Ladies' Aid Society paid for the new receiving ward for children, and for most of the furnishing of the new dormitory building of the School for Nurses. For this and other substantial assistance appreciative thanks are extended.

It is to be regretted that Easter collections of late years have decreased. A more generous response by Presbyterians to this annual appeal is earnestly hoped for, and the time for collections seems particularly propitious for a liberal offering from the churches.

During the year the Hospital has received from the estate of Henry C. Durand $10,000 for the endowment of a room to be known as the Henry C. Durand Room, which gift was very gratefully received.

The religious services have often cheered the sick and suffering. Daily praise services were held in different wards by the Hospital Missionary, Miss Patterson, and Bible class services were held in the chapel every Sunday afternoon by Class D of the Third Presbyterian Church.

By the death of Mr. John S. Gould, which occurred during the past year, the Board of Managers lost one of its oldest members, and the Hospital a warm and practical friend. Mr. Gould was not only efficient as a Manager, but at one time filled the office of Vice-President.

Improvements have been made as far as our finances would admit. A new receiving ward for children has been completed, accommodating ten patients, and giving to them a much-needed protection from contagious and infectious diseases. A large new and greatly needed ice room has been built in the basement during the year.

The pressing need of a new maternity building has been emphasized in previous reports, and equally urgent is the need of a new building for the use of private patients, who, paying liberally for good accommodations and the best professional services, would bring a sure and substantial income to the Hospital, thereby extending the opportunities for charitable work. This can be done only by the personal and generous support of the friends of the Hospital.

We wish to extend hearty thanks to the employees in the several departments, who have conscientiously discharged their duties during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST A. HAMILL, President.

CHICAGO, April 11, 1904.

To the Board of Managers Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago.

GENTLEMEN :—I take pleasure in submitting to you herewith the twenty-first annual report. Since our Superintendent, Dr. Francis M. Nesmith, resigned last May, a great deal of the work has fallen upon me, and had it not been for the co-operation of those in charge of the different departments I am sure I could not present to you a very gratifying report to-day. All departments of the Hospital have worked smoothly and most satisfactorily, as you will see by their reports.

The number of patients admitted this year was 2,701, of which 532 paid full cost of maintenance, 1,576 part pay, and 655 free. This shows that 80 per cent of our patients this year were free and part pay, leaving only 20 per cent that paid full cost of maintenance against 66 per cent free and part pay and 34 per cent full pay last year. The total days treatment were 68,454; of these, 17,231 paid full cost of maintenance, 31,181 part pay, and 20,042 were free. Last year we had 68,308 days treatment. This shows a gain of 146 days this year over last. The lowest number of patients at any time was 143; the highest, 218. The daily cost per capita was $1.79, which is a little more than last year. The number of dressings given to patients after leaving the hospital was 1,720, of which 552 were free and pay was received for 1,168.

In the X-ray department 542 skiographs were taken, of which 98 were free and 444 paid; 1,759 treatments were given, of which 590 were free and 1,169 paid. In many cases, however, the amount paid did not cover the actual expense of the skiograph or treatment. This work is far in advance of any previous year, and as we now have the most complete X-ray laboratory in the West we feel sure that the work in this department will increase.

There are many improvements throughout the building that should be made, but the one great need at present is a new building. We are constantly refusing admission to patients on account of lack of room.

The evening concerts given by people from the different churches have been greatly appreciated by the patients and employees, and special thanks are due to all who have so kindly contributed.

Thanks are due to the Medical Staff and Internes for their personal as well as professional interest in the patients; to the nurses for their faithful services; to the office force; to Miss Riedle, the Matron, and Miss McMillan, the Superintendent of the School for Nurses, for their untiring services; and to all the employees generally for their efficient work during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) ASA BACON, Cashier and Acting Superintendent.

The Presbyterian Hospital and its New Superintendent

THE Presbyterian Hospital of Chicago, which was organized and incorporated in 1883, has just rendered its twentieth annual report, from which well-digested pamphlet we learn that the number of patients admitted during the year was 2,701; of whom 532 paid full cost of maintenance, 1,576 paid part cost and 65 were treated free. In other words, but 20 per cent of this large number were able to meet all expenses, while 80 per cent must be provided for, in whole or in part, by the contributions of the benevolent. The total number of "days' treatment" reached 68,454, an increase of service over last year. The lowest number of patients at any time was 143, the highest 218. The daily cost per capita was $1.79. The Presbyterian Hospital has now the most complete X-ray apparatus in the West, and during the year 1,759 treatments with its very costly outfit were given. For the past twelve months its receipts from pay patients amounted to $87,644.15, its total receipts to $184,971.56, but its expenses ate up this sum and the most of the $15,625 surplus carried from the previous year. The Presbyterian churches of Chicago contributed about $4,000 to its support, and individuals in those churches $5,000 more, not counting legacies, of which one, from Mr. Henry C. Durand, amounted to $10,000. The new School for Nurses, to erect whose buildings the trustees borrowed $30,000, has proven very popular and successful, the officers, instructors and nurses numbering 90. The budget of the school, something over $60,000, is embraced in a separate report. It would be a good thing if the people of our urban and suburban congregations would provide themselves with copies of this admirable conspectus of the work, and see what is being done in Chicago in the name of our Master and our Church to deal with the problem of illness and suffering in a great city.

Since the report was made up, the directors of the Hospital have called to its management H. W. Howard, M.D., who is a graduate of Rush Medical College, Chicago, of the class of 1890, a native of this state, born at Marseilles, Ill. Dr. Howard spent three years in Chicago practice, but in 1893 received an appointment as city physician of Honolulu, making Hawaii his residence for the ensuing ten years. During his holding of this responsible position the city was visited by both cholera and the bubonic plague, so that his experience has been of the most varied, not to say startling, character. Returning to this country about a year and a half ago, Dr. Howard has since been engaged in hospital duties at Grand Rapids, Mich., where his excellent work has added to his already high reputation. We welcome him back to Chicago and are happy that so noble an institution as the Presbyterian Hospital is to have so competent a head.

That man who is a Tree of Righteousness is not simply strong as an oak, and spiritually beautiful as an elm is physically perfect, but he is a blessing to the world in which God planted him. He becomes a shade to the weary, and the fruit of his abundant life supplies food to the exhausted toiler. He may at first appear, like his great Master, to be little more than a branch from the stem of some greater name in the past, but the world will find him at last like those aged and luxuriant olives planted in the holy courts of the sacred temple upon Moriah's heights, "bringing forth fruit in old age," and to the last hour of a well prolonged life a benediction. And when at last the world misses his presence and mourns his loss, there is for him the joyful and well assured hope that "if he be cut down" he will spring forth again, and the tender branch of his divinely implanted life will grow again in the paradise of God.

The Church Session

THE church session is the most important official body of our Church and it has always seemed strange to us that so little is made of it in lectures upon pastoral theology. The 30,000 godly men who comprise these 7,900 local courts constitute the permanent force whose wisdom and piety are our future hope. They are all picked men. They are, for the most part, educated men. In a single Western session of ten members we have found seven of the ten to be men of college training. They are selected for their office not on account of social standing or because of their wealth, but because of their interest in the affairs of Christ's church, and because in the absence of the pastor they can lead the prayer meeting, or in the absence of a Sunday-school superintendent, take charge of the school. With scarcely an exception they have the respect of their communities as men of character and devotion. The communion of the church is made up of such members as they have officially approved. The pulpit is filled by pastors whom they have taken the initiative in calling. And they serve as a rule for life, or for longer than any minister who moderates them.

Now and then, but very rarely, discord divides their counsels and personal pride of opinion embitters their reasoning. Occasionally an elder is found who "magnifies" his office, but hardly in the Pauline sense. He attempts, it may be, to command the respect which is worth nothing unless it be freely offered; he would assert an authority which is more hurtful than helpful unless it be exercised in kindness, or he will hold out to the last gasp upon a question where he has once committed himself, without realizing that others are quite as conscientious and may be fully as well informed as himself. No man needs more of grace or more of that wisdom which cometh down from above, which is "pure, peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
School for Nurses
OF
THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
School for Nurses

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Board of Directors:

I have the honor to present the first annual report of the School for Nurses of the Presbyterian Hospital.

While the organization of any school must necessarily be a work of much interest, the building up of such a one as this offers a field for unlimited thought and work. What many schools have been hoping for and working towards for years, this school steps into at once and accomplishes, in its first year of existence, an organization combining those features most to be desired in a school of this nature. The much-talked-of preliminary course is an established fact; the more just proportion of theoretical instruction with practical training has been arranged and the field of education of the pupil nurse has been broadened by introducing dispensary work, domestic science and district nursing.

The School, moreover, in its organization, has proved itself a pioneer among large schools for nurses by introducing a tuition fee, by lengthening the course of study and by its affiliation with a medical college. The fact that a small tuition fee is charged is one of congratulation, placing the nurse in the position of student rather than that of employee of the hospital, while its affiliation with a medical college is of vital importance, assuring it a standard of excellence not only high but enduring and stamping it with a dignity not otherwise obtainable.

That the organization of the School has been accompanied by the necessity of assuming the care of the sick in this busy hospital, with its exceptionally active surgical service, taking up the work that a large modern school has done so well for many years, makes the task a difficult one and throws heavy responsibility on the school in its early days of life. On July 1, 1903, a beginning to this work was made by undertaking the nursing of several departments of the Hospital, these being added to gradually, until by January 1, 1904, the entire nursing of the institution was under the charge of its own School. The pupils of the first class being few in number and not sufficiently advanced in training to undertake this, the work has been accomplished to a great extent by nurses, graduated from schools throughout the country, coming to us for additional experience.

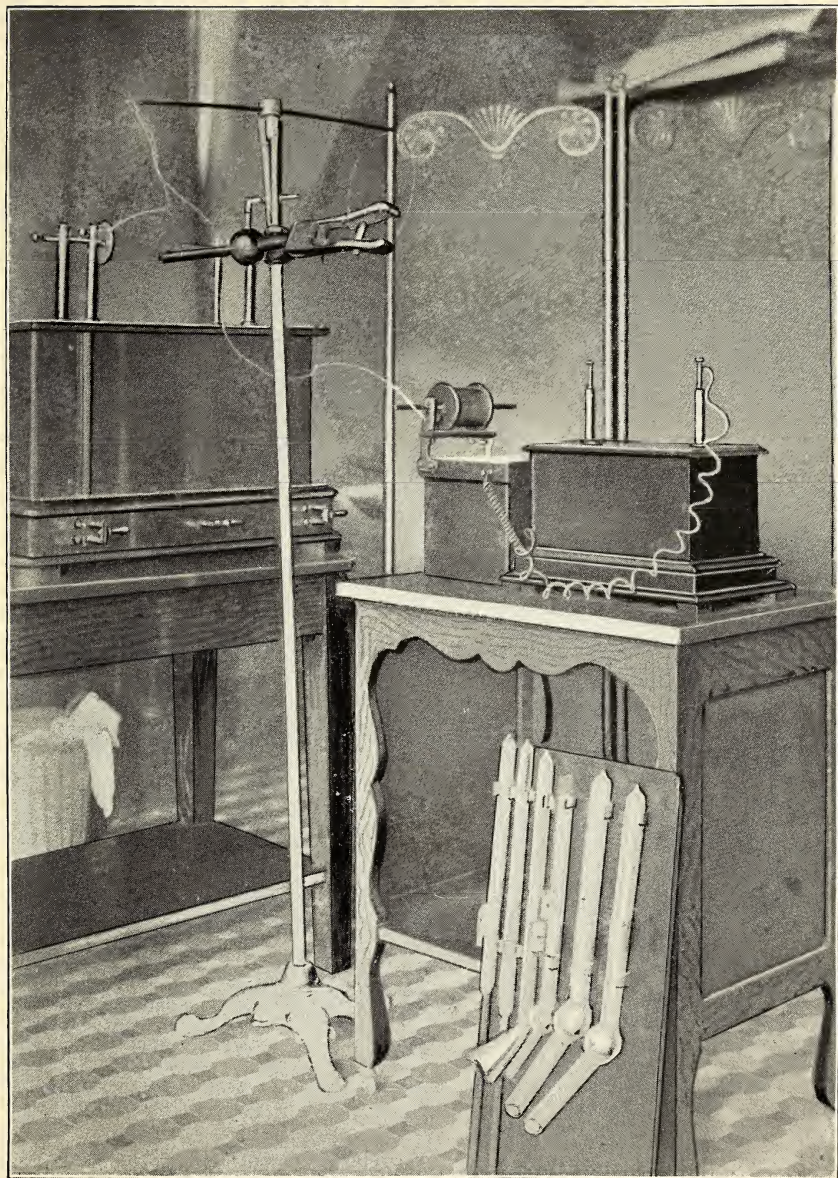

As no large hospital in the West and no general Eastern hospital opens its departments to nurses graduating from other schools, the opportunity given here has been fairly well appreciated, there being since July an average of from fifteen to thirty-six nurses taking post-graduate work, coming from all over the country, the East as well as the West. Although this is a difficult way to carry on the work of an institution, necessitating the continual introduction into the Hospital of strange and, to us, untried nurses, with the average number of dissatisfied ones and incompetents, it has been an innovation of mutual service to the graduate nurse and to the Hospital. During the past year many who have come to add to their proficiency and knowledge have, by their record of excellent work, secured permanent positions in this Hospital or elsewhere or have been placed on the list for private and special nursing. The Hospital itself has been saved the burden of a very heavy pay roll and, in addition, has broadened its usefulness by filling a want long felt by nurses throughout the country, for an opportunity for further institutional experience.

Arrangements also have been made by which other hospitals may send their pupils to us for special training, the U. B. A. Hospital of Grand Rapids and the Passavant Memorial Hospital of Chicago taking advantage of this. On October 1st the members of our first class, ten in number, having satisfactorily completed the six months' preliminary course they started on April 1st, entered upon their duties in the Hospital and are fulfilling our best anticipations. However, even with all these sources of supply, since January 1st, when the entire nursing of the institution was assumed, the School has been taxed to its utmost to satisfactorily care for the sick and is looking anxiously forward to the time when other classes, having passed through the period of preparation, will be added to the staff.

There are at present resident in the Home and on duty in the several departments of the School:

Officers and instructors.....	6
Supervising and head nurses (including Dispensary, Annex, Maternity) .....	13
Nurses taking post-graduate work.....	22
Pupils from other hospitals.....	3
School pupils on duty in the Hospital.....	22
School pupils in preliminary class.....	20
Salaried nurses employed temporarily in Hospital.....	4
Total .....	90

That it has been possible to carry on the work with results at all creditable is due to the great consideration, interest and assistance shown towards the new School by all connected with it. The officers of the Illinois Training School worked harmoniously with us during the trying period of change, for which we wish to acknowledge our gratitude; the several officers of the Hospital have borne patiently with the annoyances arising from so complete a change and have put up with our deficiencies; the members of the staff have made every allowance for the difficulties under which the work has been carried on and have stood ready to assist; while the Lady Board of Managers and the Board of Directors have been ever generous and prompt to respond to the many and heavy demands made upon them. To them and to the staff of the Rush Medical College we owe a School so organized as to be an incentive to all schools for nurses; to the generosity of the members of the Ladies' Board and of the Gentlemen's Board we are indebted for a home for our staff and pupils at once homelike and dignified.

At the end of its first year the School wishes to be allowed to express its appreciation and to return thanks: To the Faculty of the Rush Medical College for the valuable and much valued instruction given by members of its staff; to Dr. Herrick, Dr. Bevan, Dr. Graham and other members of the staff, and to the members of the resident staff of the Hospital, for professional services; to the staff of the Central Free Dispensary; to the Visiting Nurse Association of Chicago for the privilege granted our pupils of making rounds with its staff nurses; to the School of Domestic Science for instructing our first class in dietetics and invalid cookery; to the donors of the School; and to one and all of the many friends who have shown interest in our life and work. To all of these we express the hope that our School may, during this and coming years, continue to hold this friendship and that its record may finally reach the degree of excellence anticipated by its most enthusiastic and ambitious friend.

Respectfully submitted,

M. HELENA McMILLAN, Principal of the School.

REPORT OF LIBRARY COMMITTEE

During the past year twelve regular meetings have been held by the Library Committee, with an average attendance of six. Largest number present at any one meeting, eight; smallest number, one.

We have refilled each month the bookcases on the five floors of the main building, as well as those in the outside wards. In addition to this, 1,136 books have been covered. One hundred and twenty-two books have been received during the year, besides paper-covered books, magazines, children's books and papers, pictures for scrap-books, etc.

We thank the Ladies' Aid for its annual donation of $15, which is used for buying book covers and incidentals. We also gratefully thank all who, by their various gifts to the Library Committee, have enabled us to carry on this branch of the Hospital work.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. FRED B. CARTER, Chairman.

REPORT OF SCHOOL FOR NURSES

Rapid advancement has gone on in the School for Nurses connected with this Hospital in this first year of its existence.

One year ago our property was secured and its equipment began. Our first class of twenty pupil nurses had entered the School, and we were looking forward with many hopes weighed with anxieties.

For six months ten of these young women have been doing excellent work in the Hospital.

A second class came in October, and within the present week a third class has undertaken the preliminary course.

During last summer a dormitory with rooms for thirty-three nurses was built, and, with the addition of No. 273 Ashland Boulevard, we can now take care of ninety nurses. These are all needed in our growing work, all the nursing having come under the care of our School since the first of last January.

Our large family is made comfortable and happy in its pleasant home, and our classes are making the expected advancement under the teachers of our own Faculty and the lectures of our Medical Staff.

We have much to be grateful for in this first year of work, and wish as a Committee to thank heartily the members of this Board and all who have so generously and assiduously aided in making our School for Nurses a permanent part of our hospital work.

S. W. HAMILL, For the Committee.

REPORT OF THE VISITING AND DEVOTIONAL COMMITTEE

The Visiting and Devotional Committee has done what it could to brighten dull days of pain and weakness and to bring the comfort of the Christian faith to those who are passing through sore trial.

The ladies of the Committee have visited as they have had opportunity in different parts of the house, yet an especial effort has been made to reach those who, far from home and friends, most need sympathy and companionship.

We have found the house uniformly clean and orderly, and have heard numberless testimonies from the patients concerning the excellent service.

We have frequently come in contact with the nurses from our new Training School, have admired their neat appearance and noted their kind and considerate manner toward the sick.

We have seen much fruit from Miss Patterson's good work, and know that the people watch for her coming as for one from whom they expect to receive comfort and blessing.

It is always the aim of our Committee to carry as much cheer as possible to those we visit, because physical weakness tends to despondency, and we have had many opportunities to pull off blue glasses and turn sad faces toward the sunshine.

We have found those whose faith had weakened under the stress of suffering, who, because they could not see the "why and wherefore," had fallen into spiritual darkness, whose hand it was our privilege to lay again in the Father's and turn the feet back into the way of peace. Again we have met one whose presence lighted up a whole ward and who gave the visitor herself an uplift that sent her away rejoicing.

The children's ward is seldom missed in our visiting, for it is a center of attraction. We have had many remarkable little people there this year, whom we have learned to love. They always welcome us cordially and often refuse to part company with us. A more contented, happier or better cared for company of children it would be hard to find.

Probably the best work of our Committee has been that of prayer and seed-sowing. The word of God, always at hand, has proved a never-failing source of strength, and the ministry of intercession has been blessed indeed.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNA E. WING.

By request of

MRS. W. J. CAMPBELL, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE MISSIONARY

There have been about six meetings a week held during the year (excepting one month), making a total of 268. The attendance has varied according to the number of convalescents, being much larger at some times than at others. To the Christian they meant times of rest and refreshment; to the non-Christian, a diversion from the daily hospital routine, so that they are always welcomed.

These meetings reach not only the patients in the wards and the convalescents from the rooms, but also the friends of patients, and, too, those sick ones lying in rooms near the wards, who are helped by the singing and who often send in requests for favorite hymns and sometimes for special prayer. One patient remarked that when she came into the hospital she felt very much alone and forlorn, but that when she heard the singing of hymns she knew then she was among friends.

By means of the meetings and through personal work there have been a number of conversions, among men especially, and many Christians have been quickened to new love and service.

Lack of space forbids us to tell of the noble men and women who have been inmates of the Hospital this past year, who have daily testified, through their patience and cheerfulness in suffering, of the keeping power of the Saviour.

The work among the children has been most interesting. A child from the time that he enters the Hospital until he leaves it is in an atmosphere of love and kindness which tends to develop the best that is in him. Many of our children have been such wee mites that we could not do much with them from a spiritual standpoint, but all of the older children have learned hymns and Scripture verses, have learned to pray and to be grateful for God's care of them, and many have learned definitely to trust Him. There have been instances when consciences have been touched and wrongs confessed and a desire manifested to please Jesus by doing what is right.

Through the special kindness of three members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Hospital the work has been much helped. One has helped in a number of the services, another has regularly donated flowers, and the third has given money for books. There have been distributed fifty New Testaments, forty copies of the Gospel of John, and about forty Moody Colportage books.

We are very grateful to the Ladies' Aid Society for our new Hymn Books, which are being much enjoyed.

We wish especially to thank the doctors and nurses, the matron and housekeepers, and all connected with the Hospital, for their kindness, consideration and co-operation in this work. Above all we thank our Heavenly Father for His goodness and beseech His continual blessing.

Respectfully submitted,
CONTENT PATTERSON.
